Weekly Summary

This week we worked on furthering progress on functionality for our application. The progress we made this week was mostly in bug fixing and style changes. We also changed how authentication works so that we could authenticate though identity providers other than Shibboleth. Currently we have Facebook implemented with the possibility of adding other Omniauth providers easily. Additionally, we have an interactive map embedded in the create a trip page that we plan to use for displaying the route. During our Friday meeting we talked about preparing for our final presentation and how we should present out work as a narrative and focus particularly on design decisions and technical challenges.
